SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY

- Founded in 1948, Shandong Experimental High School (SEHS) is one of the top public senior high schools in China and arguably number one in Shandong Province.

- Our mission is to provide every student with boundless space to take the initiative to develop.

- At present, SEHS has two campuses in the city of Jinan. The Central Campus has both Chinese (Gaokao) curriculum, American High School Curriculum as well as AS and A-Level Courses. The East Campus offers only Chinese (Gaokao) curriculum.

- The school has 6,198 students enrolled from Grade 10 to Grade 12 in this school year. SEHS is an academically rigorous environment. Our students are known for balancing academics and extra-curricular activities. Throughout our history, SEHS has maintained a strong academic reputation consistently surpassing local, provincial and national test scores. 99.5% of the school's graduates are admitted to 4-year colleges, and today our graduates are enrolled in over two hundred colleges and universities throughout the world.

- There are 511 faculties in our school, of whom 1 has received Doctoral Degree, 181 Master's Degree, and the rest Bachelor's Degree.

AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOL CURRICULUM
(SEHS American Program)

Unlike the United States four-year program, high schools across China pursue a three–year curriculum mandated by the Chinese Educational Department. The American High School Program (SEHS American Program) in SEHS offers a wide variety of courses including Chinese High School Core Curriculum, American High School Core Curriculum, Honors Courses and Advanced Placement (AP) Courses.

AP classes are designed to be the equivalent of college entry-level classes that students may take while still in high school. There are final AP exams administrated globally in May that are scored from 1-5. SEHS American Program offers 15 AP courses.

When we started the program in September 2011, each year we enrolled 60 to 114 students through highly competitive entrance examinations. The students in this program do NOT sit for the GAOKAO (National College Entrance Examinations of China). Instead, they take standardized tests like ACT or SAT for college applications. Additionally, they submit TOEFL / IELTS scores as do other international students.

GRADING SYSTEM

Grade Point Average (GPA) Calculation

GPA is determined by the sum of the points earned and divided by the total number of credits. The grade points of normal course=numeric grade x 0.04. After each student's average for all courses is computed on this standard 4.0 grading scale, the following weighing factors are applied to create a weighted GPA:

The grade points of honors course= numeric grade x 0.045;
The grade points of AP course= numeric grade x 0.05.

SEHS American Program does not rank students by the requirement from Shandong Provincial Education Department.
